

PRESENT: John P. McBlain, Chairman; Colleen P. Morrone, Vice Chairman; Michael F. Culp, Council Member; Kevin M. Madden, Council Member; Brian P. Zidek, Council Member; Joanne Phillips, Controller; Marianne Grace, Executive Director; Francis J. Catania, Deputy Solicitor; Anne M. Coogan, County Clerk; and other department heads.

The Regular Meeting of Delaware County Council was held on July 11, 2018 at 6:00 P.M. in the East Lansdowne Borough Municipal Building, 155 Lexington Avenue, East Lansdowne, PA. Chairman McBlain called the meeting to order followed the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag led by East Lansdowne Mayor John Dukes. Pastor Rohan Hepkins, gave the invocation.

Chairman McBlain called on Mr. Madden to speak on Agenda Item 4, a Resolution recognizing East Lansdowne Mayor John Dukes for the publication of his book in memory of his son with 100% of the proceeds benefiting Autism Awareness and Research.

Mr. Madden said many of us know a child affected by autism. Autism, or autism spectrum disorder, refers to a range of conditions characterized by challenges with social skills, repetitive behaviors, speech and non-verbal communication, as well as by unique strengths and differences. Certain medical and mental health issues frequently accompany autism. They include gastrointestinal (GI) disorders, seizures, sleep disturbances, attention deficit and hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), anxiety and phobias. The CDC estimates that autism is prevalent in 1 in 59 children in the United States. This includes 1 in 37 boys and 1 in 151 girls.

East Lansdowne Mayor John Dukes is one of many families in our area touched by autism. His son, John, was diagnosed with autism at birth and sadly passed away two years ago at the age of 25.

In May, Mayor Dukes published a book, "Dadders, Can I Pet the Whales?" which explains how a child with autism can affect a family, friends, classmates and the unconditional love a person with autism can both display and inspire in others. The book tells a story about his son and the world through his eyes. One heartwarming example is this passage "John's smile was contagious and his love for baseball made the games even more exciting." Mayor Dukes writes that John's love for the simple things in life is something we often take for granted.

His hope is that the book will help other parents with children who have autism better cope with the challenges they face. One-hundred percent of the proceeds of book sales are being donated to the District 19 Challenger League where his son played baseball for 20 years.

Mr. Madden said it takes extraordinary bravery to take something that is a personal and family tragedy of unimaginable degrees and turn that into a cause that will make an impact on so many lives.

We commend Mayor Dukes for sharing his personal journey with autism and his touching stories and memories of his son, John.

Mr. Madden called on Mayor Dukes to come forward to accept the Resolution.

Mayor Dukes thanked Council for this unexpected Resolution. It is a legacy to his son, family and the people who loved him dearly. He is honored to have County Council here this evening but to receive such an accolade is more than enough for him. He is a humble man who has humble beginnings and hopefully a humble end. If he can leave a legacy with his son's name on it then he will live forever.

Chairman McBlain said it is his honor to present a Resolution recognizing East Lansdowne Councilman Majovie "Joe" Bland for his efforts to improve the quality of life of residents in East Lansdowne.

The success of a great community is due in part to the dedication of the residents and those who serve in local government. East Lansdowne is fortunate to have many public servants who work in government and volunteer throughout the year.

East Lansdowne Council Vice President Majovie Bland has been dedicated to improving the quality of life of residents in East Lansdowne for many years. Since being sworn into Council in 2012, Mr. Bland has chaired the Borough's 4th of July Committee, has published newsletters for residents and has served as the East Lansdowne Events Coordinator. He has not only organized many of East Lansdowne's events for the community, but has also helped promote them and volunteered for them. East Lansdowne was recognized this year by receiving Honorable Mention (statewide) from the PA Association of Boroughs for its newsletter while receiving other awards from the PSAB for the social media outlets that it has.

Councilman Bland is also the co-founder of a youth organization, "Good, Better, Great." This youth organization helps our young people gain self-confidence and self-esteem and forms friendships with peers. It also allows them to have a safe place to enjoy a sport or hobby and reduces the risk of becoming involved in unsafe activities, such as using drugs and alcohol. It's good for the kids; it's good for the parents; and it's great for the entire community.

On behalf of Delaware County Council, Chairman McBlain thanked Councilman Bland for all his efforts in improving the quality of life of residents in East Lansdowne. He called on Councilman Bland to come forward to receive a Resolution recognizing his efforts. Also, Chairman McBlain presented Councilman Bland with some tickets to the Philadelphia Union Soccer League. The Union has an international game this Saturday evening against the German team.

Chairman McBlain called on Mr. Culp to speak on Agenda Item 6, a Resolution recognizing East Lansdowne Firefighter and former Police Chief Tom Pearlingi for his 61 years of service to the residents of East Lansdowne.

Mr. Culp said the Borough of East Lansdowne is blessed to have a public servant who has bravely protected the residents of East Lansdowne as both the Chief of Police and also as a Firefighter.

Thomas Pearlingi began his career in public service at the age of 18 when he first joined the East Lansdowne Fire Co. No. 1 in 1959. Mr. Pearlingi has held numerous positions in the fire company including Ladder Captain and President.

In 1963, he joined the East Lansdowne Police Department as a part-time officer. He was promoted to a full-time officer in 1967 as a Sergeant in 1972, and named Police Chief in 1986.

After 40 years in law enforcement, Chief Pearlingi retired from the East Lansdowne Police Department and continues to serve the residents of East Lansdowne as an active member of the East Lansdowne Fire Department. He was elected Chairman of the Board of Directors for the Department in 2012, and currently holds that position.

In 1995, as the outgoing President and on behalf of the Fire Company, he founded the "Thomas J. Pearlingi, Jr. Community Service Award." The award is presented to citizens who have volunteered or performed selfless acts for the benefit of the community.

During his selfless dedication to the community, Chief Pearlingi and his wife (Cathy) have raised 3 children.

On behalf of the entire county, Council thanks and commends Mr. Pearlingi for his 61 years of public service to the community which he has served with professionalism and bravery.

Mr. Pearlingi thanked County Council for this recognition, which was unexpected but very much appreciated.

Before moving onto the County business matters, Chairman McBlain said he wished to recognize the following people who were present tonight: Mayor John Dukes, Borough Manager William Callahan, Council President Lindsay Crosby, Council Vice President Majovie Bland, Robert Mould, Perry Bonner-Fennal, Joseph Williams, Marion Fitti, State Representative Margo Davidson, Yeadon Mayor Rohan Hepkins, Lansdowne Mayor Anthony Campuzano, former Lansdowne Mayor Jane Young and former Darby Borough Mayor Paula Brown.

Mr. Zidek asked that Leonard Bonarek, of the Bicycle Coalition of Greater Philadelphia, say a few words about supporting the Circuit Trails which is a regional and national connectivity for cyclists and pedestrians. So, this is something more than just recreation and access to nature which is also very important. This Resolution does not bind the County to take any further action and it does not bind the County to spend any money. It is essentially a letter of support from the residents of Delaware County saying that we want the Circuit Trail Network to be built faster in order to reach the goal of 750 miles of completed trails by 2040 that was sent out by the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission.

Linda Roadcloud, 826 Cypress Street, Yeadon had concerns relating to the Darby Creek and the need to have the area cleaned up, including such things are tires, hypodermic needles and other unsafe items. She asked for help in cleaning this area up.

Marion Fitti, 113 Hirst Avenue, East Lansdowne, remarked that the streets in the borough need attention and asked that Community Service might be able to help in a cleanup project for the borough. She also would like to have more drug prevention programs in schools and at school board meetings.

Larry Arata, 1204 Edgewood Road, Haverford Township, expressed concerns regarding the safety of the Sunoco Pipeline Project in Delaware County. He asked that the public be updated on the status of the procurement process of the Risk Assessment Study.

Tony Campuzano, 40 W. Albemarle Avenue, Mayor of Lansdowne Borough, congratulated Mayor Dukes for his recognition tonight, which is well deserved. He also extended an invitation for Council to come to his borough and thanked County Council for their continued support of his borough.

Sharon White, 6 S. Lansdowne Avenue, Lansdowne, affiliated with PRO-ACT (a recovery program), requested a proclamation be presented by Delaware County at the largest Recovery Walk in the country that will be held on Saturday, September 22 at Penn's Landing.

COUNCIL: Mr. Zidek recognized Swarthmore Mayor Tim Kearney who attended tonight's meeting. He recently took a tour of the historic Lansdowne Theatre and was impressed by this Delaware County gem. He offers his support and hopes they continue to restore that great theater.

Mr. Madden thanked East Lansdowne Borough for hosting our meeting tonight. He commented on the Delaware County Prison System by saying that 30% of our tax dollars goes to the prison system. The County jail often acts as a backstop when we fail in a more direct way of dealing with opioid addiction or when we fail with regard to treatment of mental health problems, behavioral health problems. Folks end up in the criminal justice system. It is not how we intended, but that is the reality. When we think of it, as we have for a very long period of time, as a means of punishment and not with the sense that this is a means of rehabilitation and to look at the model in a sense of how do we reduce the likelihood that someone who climbs their way into the criminal justice system (regardless of what reason it is) that is the last time it happens. This is about as vital a task that we as county government (or state or federal government) can discuss. The United States has the highest rate of incarceration in the world and some of the worst outcomes. Fifty-percent of those who are incarcerated in the U.S. return to the prison system within 3 years of release. The collateral costs of one going into the prison system are pretty obvious. You remove someone as being a productive member of their family; you remove someone who is a parent. You end up with adoptions and with children working their way into the foster system. The direct costs are significant. $50,000,000.00 dollars is a lot of money. We need to think holistically about how we are spending our tax dollars.

Mr. Madden said the reason he brings this up (and the time of it) is because what was mentioned earlier. Since 1998, the George W. Hill Prison has been run by a private company. That contract is a 5-year agreement and is up for renewal this year.

A little more background about what a County jail means. We are not talking about a State Penitentiary. Folks who serve time in a County jail are dealing with sentences that are two years or less. So, with very few exemptions, we are not talking about violent criminals; we are talking about folks who are dealing with a minor misdemeanor (for the most part). Eighty-percent of those who are there today are detainees; they have not yet been found guilty of a crime.

As he said, it's been run as a private prison since 1998. This contract is up for renewal. As was mentioned, there is a process that the Board of Prison Inspectors has begun and that is a dual track process. There is an RFP to look for competing bidders with GEO, who is the current contractor. The second process they undertook was engaging with a consulting group called Phoenix. Phoenix was tasked with looking at the direct costs of being run privately vs. publicly. But what he is going to assert today is that the question being asked isn't the right question. He is glad they are doing work, but he doesn't think it's the right work.

He draws a comparison to what we are currently in the process of doing and that is to look at how public health is delivered in Delaware County. That process is an extensive one and it is one that is done deliberately with public involvement. We have an RFP that was drafted and is now up for public comment. Once we have an RFP that we have agreed upon, we will go out and find a contractor who will conduct the Study. So, there is a process that involves public input. With the Phoenix Group, this occurred without (as far as he knows) without any real public involvement. The prison is run by a 5-person Board of Prison Inspectors. They are made up of 2 folks who are appointed by Delaware County Council and 3 who are appointed by the President Judge. They run things and are given an amount of money that is within the budget that we (Council) votes on, but once that occurs it is really done within their realm of how they do things.

So, he is really speaking here, not because we have any direct impact on how this gets run, but more as a point of comparison of how we undertook a study and what he views as a process that wasn't undertaken by the Board of Prison Inspectors.

He said earlier he doesn't think the question was asked the right way. We have the only privately run prison in the State of Pennsylvania. It's possible that we are the smartest folks in the room. Anytime you are the only person who does something one way, perhaps you are the smartest. But, he thinks before you make that conclusion, it is very important that you study it and make sure you are not the dumbest one in the room.

The statistics are alarming. Studies conducted in Minnesota and Oklahoma found increased rates of recidivism for private prisons between 13 and 17 percent. He is not an advocate of eliminating all outsourcing of public services. He thinks there is a place for the private sector to be a driver for innovation, but what was mentioned earlier today his concern here is that there is a misalignment of incentives. Recidivism should be the number one thing that we look at alongside the safety and security of the inmates and those who work there. But when recidivism actually means "for a profit" company, a recurring revenue stream, that misaligns with what we as a county want.

Mr. Madden said he is speaking today here because he has a microphone and a podium and is speaking as an advocate, but he thinks as a community we need to make clear that when we think about something that is going to have a long-term impact on our county, that we ensure that those who are put in a place of leadership that they are asking the question the right way before we turn to something that impacts, positively or negatively, for our county in moving forward.

Mr. Culp said he has a lot of fond memories of East Lansdowne. He had an aunt who lived right down the street from St. Cyril's. His grandmother actually worked for 15-20 years at the Empire Diner where he had many meals. He thanked Mayor Dukes and his Council. This is a great town and it has been our pleasure to be here tonight.

Mrs. Morrone also wanted to thank East Lansdowne Borough for hosting our meeting tonight. The reception has been very pleasant and warm. You can see the pride that the residents have in this borough, including the participation, the school district and those that are concerned about their community. You can truly see the hometown spirit. You can see from these meetings that they can go in many directions. We have covered everything from workforce development to prisons, to parks and trails, to looking at community service and voting. Lots of times there are various discussions and events that occur in the meetings. Sometimes we agree on things and other times we don't agree on things and that is okay as well. We are all here to make sure that we are moving Delaware County in the right direction.

Chairman McBlain echoed Mrs. Morrone comments. First of all, he wanted to thank all the residents who decided to come to tonight's County Council Meeting, and especially those who spoke out in advocacy on an issue that you feel passionately about. Thank you for coming out and doing that; devoting your time to do that. Whether or not he or all the members of Council agree or disagree with a particular issue or advocacy that you are presenting, it is important that you do present that advocacy. It gives us something to think about, as well as all the discussion that Council has.

Chairman McBlain thanked the leaders of East Lansdowne for having us here. He's from Aldan Borough, so he has a great appreciation for a small borough and the spirit that lives on in our small communities, especially here in the William Penn School District.

East Lansdowne recently celebrated its 103rd Fourth of July Parade. That is certainly a great accomplishment and a great record. They have always been known for its strong tradition of honoring its veterans and they have done a fantastic job.

There being no further County business, nor public discussion, motion made by Mr. Culp to adjourn the meeting, seconded by Mr. Madden and carried unanimously.

ANNE M. COOGAN, County Clerk
